thing in proper perspective. What are the work opportunities today, what can a young man do, how do we get the work experience in some of the areas we're involved with? I haven't made a decision on which way I'm going to go on either one of these bills but I say to you, I think it's a little premature to kill either one of them this morning and I think we better study it and we better look at it.

SPEAKER: Senator Keyes.

SENATOR KEYES: Well, Mr. President, to the surprise of many people, I'm going to talk against the kill motion on this. I think Senator Shirley Marsh probably made one of the finest statements that we have had. This was a follow-up, I believe, of what Senator Cavanaugh said, or Senator Fowler. We have less people on welfare, on ADC today than we had a year ago. The program is working. Now for Senator Chambers' information, I walk the streets of the park where he lives and looked over. Now I studied the families and watched them come in and out of their homes and then I went down to the South side because I know where to look for the people that are suffering, that are poor and that are hungry and then I went home and I looked at my own family and I just could see a tremendous difference and Senator Chambers, there are some things when you talk that I do not agree with because I always have worked from the under-side of the load, just like you do. I had coffee the other day with a man who must work, live on the top side of the load, in an office that was fabulous, but did you know that this man said, Orville, he said, I believe that this nation of ours has arrived at the place in productivity where we can provide a decent living for everybody and that includes those on ADC, so today I would ask that you do not kill these bills, that we go ahead and provide a good, clean, decent living and provide education and try to get everybody so that the load isn't too much for them to bear. These children that are on ADC and I have looked at them, are pretty much condemned to the same life of their parents unless we do something about them. Thank you.

SPEAKER: Senator Carpenter.

SENATOR CARPENTER: Well, Mr. President, I must come from a peculiar district. I haven't had a single letter or a single request from anybody in my district on ADC or off, for either one of these two bills. And let me ask, anybody in this body as a setting Senator outside of Omaha, have you had any requests that we pass this legislation, if so, how many? Is anybody here who has had any real contact by the people on ADC or not on ADC that pass either one of these two bills? I presume by your silence you haven't. Well then, say so. How many have you had? Well, how many is quite a number?

SENATOR MARSH: Senator Carpenter, I have, as I said, quite a number. I would consider this between 25 and 35 letters in my file.

SENATOR CARPENTER: Okay.

SENATOR MARSH: And I would like to also preface this by saying this is the field in which I have expressed interest before I came into the Legislature so this is a field in which I feel I have perhaps some expertise, both educationally and work experience-wise. Thank you.

SENATOR CARPENTER: To follow this, there's not many have had any inquiry or request for this and how many people have you heard that said we've gone about as far as we should go from a standpoint of the ability of those to pay who have to pay taxes? This is not a one sided question. There is a lot of people, for example, who feel we have gone as far as we should even though we have the ability to pay more. Now let me ask
